AAA SCHOLARSHIPS
 This summer the Auburn Arts Association awarded several scholarships for summer Visual Arts Workshops. Also, an AAA scholarship helped Amanda Byars attend the International Thespian Festival at the University of Nebraska. Read more about Amanda in this newsletter.

Amanda Byars of Auburn received an AAA scholarship to attend the International Thespian Festival held in June at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln. Amanda and ten other members of the Drake Middle School Thespian Honor Society, under the direction of Dr. Silvia Scaife, received high honors at the Alabama Thespian Festival. This qualified the group to attend and compete in the weeklong international event. In Lincoln, the young actors participated in workshops led by theatre professionals and honed their skills in all aspects of performance. Amanda told us, "I loved going to the workshops and learning more about all parts of theatre, and I am very grateful to have the opportunity to experience the festival."

THANK YOU
 A special thank you to our auctioneer Gail Langley and to Joanne Camp for conducting our fundraiser auction and thanks to everyone who supported us for that event. Thank you Willi Cox and the Poarch Board of Creek Indians Foundation for making Music on the Hill such a fun evening. And we appreciate all you MasterBakers who made SummerNight's cookie contest one for the (cook)books!

The Auburn Arts Association promotes arts education, encourages local artists and arts initiatives, and fosters community interest and participation in the arts. We're a non-profit, volunteer, community-based organization. Contact us at 334.887.2832 and auburnarts@bellsouth.net.

ANNOUNCEMENT The Auburn Arts Association thanks Chichi Lovett for her dedication and energy as president and welcomes, with deep appreciation, Emily Klinkenborg as our interim president. Chichi remains active with Art Camp, but is spending more time with her family and twin grandsons. We look forward to seeing her next summer when she'll direct JDCAC's summer visual art classes for children. This fall we're doing some restructuring and would welcome your input. If you or anyone you know is interested in becoming involved in AAA, please contact us.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Greetings to all our faithful Members, Friends, and Supporters of the Auburn Arts Association, Chichi Lovett has resigned as President of the AAA, and we want to extend a huge thank you to her for her leadership and many contributions to the AAA.

We hope you joined us for our very successful Auction and the Juried Fine Arts Show in April. In May we hosted Music on the Hill that was enjoyed by many. Pleasant weather, a yummy cookie contest and good participation for the Art Walk made for a successful SummerNight in June. In August, the Auburn Area Community Theatre successfully entertained us with Summer Shorts.

With the funds raised during our spring activities, we were able to sponsor a wide variety of Summer Art Camps for children. From August 29-September 1, we were a sponsor of Adventures in Art for all fifth-graders attending Auburn City Schools.

As we look ahead to the remainder of 2016, there are several upcoming events to put on your calendar. On October 2, the Auburn Community Orchestra under the baton of Howard Goldstein will present a concert at Pebble Hill. The AACT fall Junior Production of Tut-Tut will be in October, and AACT will be presenting Proof, a play by David Auburn in November. We usher in the Holiday Season with the ever-popular Polar Express on December 3 with events scheduled at 9am, Noon, and 2:30pm. Tickets go on sale November 9 and 10 at JDCAC. Then on December 10, the Tenth Annual Holiday Art Sale has been expanded to include artists at JDCAC, the Harris Senior Center, and Frank Brown Recreation Center. You should be able to find gifts for many on your holiday list.

In closing, thank you again to all our members and supporters for our success with our many activities in 2016. It's time for new board members, so if you would be interested, please contact us.

Sincerely,
 Emily Klinkenborg
 Interim President, Auburn Arts Association
